The screenshot shows the Fiverr homepage for a user named Amna. At the top, there's a search bar with the text "What service are you looking for today?" and a magnifying glass icon. To the right of the search bar are icons for notifications, messages, favorites, and orders, along with a profile icon labeled 'A'. Below the search bar is a horizontal menu with categories: Graphics & Design, Programming & Tech, Digital Marketing, Video & Animation, Writing & Translation, Music & Audio, Business, Data, and Photography. The main heading reads "How's it going, Amna?". Below this are two action buttons: "Tailor Fiverr for your needs" (Tell us about your business.) and "Create a brief to get proposals from sellers" (Let us do the searching.). The section "Most popular Gigs in Articles & Blog Posts" features five gig cards. Each card includes a thumbnail, the gig title, the seller's name and level, and a brief description of the service.
